

FCC Announced End to Affordable Connectivity Program

(March 18, 2024) — The Federal Communications Commission announced on January 11, 2024 the Affordable Connectivity Program (ACP) program ends in April 2024.

ACP participants receive a monthly credit for ACP. When the ACP available funding ends, accounts will have the ACP credit removed. The amount invoiced will increase by the amount of the ACP credit currently applied to accounts. Service will remain at the existing service level at the full undiscounted price when the ACP credit is no longer available, based on ACP application and contracts.

As your internet provider and community partner, MLConnect wants to work with you to provide the best possible solution. To inquire about your account, please contact MLConnect.

Additional Resources:

FCC Affordable Connectivity Program

ACP Funding Tracker

ACP Wind Down Fact Sheet

ACP Wind Down FAQs

**###

*Meriwether Lewis Electric Cooperative is a member-owned, not-for-profit, and equal-opportunity electric utility that serves more than 35,000 meters in Hickman, Houston, Humphries, Lewis, and Perry Counties. MLEC provides safe, affordable, reliable electricity while helping build brighter futures and make connections* possible for the communities we serve. Visit www.mlec.com to learn more. *Meriwether Lewis Connect LLC, a non-profit, wholly-owned subsidiary of MLEC, brings world-class broadband and hometown service to more than 15,000 subscribers.*